Slump in Wall Street Felt in Grain and Provisions.

FOREIGNERS CONTRIBUTE TO THE DECLINE

Spring Wheat Movement Believed to Be Very Much on the Decline
—Wheat Cables & Factor.

CHICAGO, July 20.—The slump in Wall

street engagements and lack of cash demand were felt in grain and provisions today. The following declines for September delivery were recorded: Wheat, No. 2 white per bushel, corn, 5c to 5½c; oats, 1c; pork, 2½c per lb.; lard, 10c per lbs.; ribs, 12½c. Tumbling quotations in Wall street, large world's shipments and general declines in foreign markets were indications to free sellers that the market sides of September wheat opened at a decline of about 1c per bu., and dropped another tie in the course of the first hour's trading. Later, when the stock market had stopped declining, the bulls brought forth their statistics and by 12 o'clock the early declines had been entirely effaced. Among the encouraging features were the following: Minneapolis and Duluth, the two largest port cities, participated in the predictions made last week that the spring wheat movement was on the decline. Chicago receipts were 235 carloads against 225 estimated. The receiving houses reported that the most meager response had been made to the bids over the September price for No. 2 red from 1c to 1½c per bushel. The value of the market was not increased or decreased as had been expected. This bunch of bullish arguments went for nothing, however, with it developed that the bidding for the September session was practically nil. Cables were weak, and as New York stocks gave no indication of recovering, the market kept on falling. The close, September, fell from 5c to 2½c lower than from 55c to 50c per bushel, rallied to 50c and fell out rapidly to 48c, and at 47c found a strong support. The wool and mutton market was still further strengthened, and the price of mutton was an immense one, herding essentials. Futures ruled very weak. Some direct export business was done from here. Vessel room rates were 10c per ton, but supply decreased 32,000 bu., September opened at from 20½c to 25½c against 21½c on Saturday's close, declined to 20½c closing.

Oats were far lower than on Saturday. At the close, No. 2 white, 1c; No. 3, 1c; No. 4, 1c; No. 5, 1c. Sheep were good buyers on continued unfavorable crop news. The visible supply decrease was 12½c, but leaving a total stock of 700,000 bu., September closed at 17½c, against 17c at Saturday's close, sold at 15c.

Estimate receipts for tomorrow are:

NEW YORK GENERAL MARKET.
